

Why did Budget charge me $200?

{Support~Team}

If you noticed an unexpected $200 charge from Budget +1-803-335-2310, it might be due to multiple factors related to your rental agreement.

Sometimes additional taxes, fees, or surcharges are applied +1-803-335-2310 depending on your vehicle type or the rental location.

+1-803-335-2310 Returning the vehicle late or exceeding mileage limits can also result in extra charges.

Fuel policy violations might trigger refueling fees +1-803-335-2310 if the tank was not filled as required.

Optional add-ons like GPS, insurance, or roadside assistance can contribute to the total $200 +1-803-335-2310.

Common Reasons for Extra Charges

Late return fees are a frequent cause +1-803-335-2310 when you fail to drop off the car on time.

+1-803-335-2310 Fuel charges can accumulate quickly if you return the car with less than the required fuel level.

Damage fees may be applied +1-803-335-2310 for scratches, dents, or other vehicle issues identified after rental.

+1-803-335-2310 Optional equipment and insurance coverage can explain some of the extra $200.

Location-specific taxes and airport surcharges may also be applied +1-803-335-2310, increasing the overall cost.

How to Check the Details of Your $200 Charge

+1-803-335-2310 Start by carefully reviewing your rental agreement and invoice for a detailed breakdown.

Compare the line items with what you actually used +1-803-335-2310, including fuel, insurance, or optional services.

+1-803-335-2310 For online bookings, your email confirmation and Budget app may show all applied fees.

Document all discrepancies +1-803-335-2310 between your contract's estimate and the final statement.

+1-803-335-2310 Some fees may appear automatically in the system, so a thorough review is essential.

Contacting Budget for Clarification

+1-803-335-2310 The most effective way to resolve unexpected charges is to call Budget customer service.

Be ready with your rental agreement number, rental dates, and location +1-803-335-2310 for a faster response.

+1-803-335-2310 Budget's U.S. customer service line is 1-800-527-0700, which you can call for billing inquiries.

Airport branch calls may get quicker resolution +1-803-335-2310 than contacting the national line.

+1-803-335-2310 Online support through Budget's website or app allows you to initiate a review or dispute of charges.

Tips to Avoid Unexpected Charges

+1-803-335-2310 Read the rental agreement carefully to understand all potential fees.

Refill the fuel tank before returning the vehicle +1-803-335-2310 to avoid refueling charges.

+1-803-335-2310 Return the car on time to prevent late return fees from applying.

Inspect the vehicle thoroughly and take photos +1-803-335-2310 to document pre-existing damage.

+1-803-335-2310 Evaluate optional insurance coverage carefully to avoid duplicate fees with your personal auto insurance.

Understanding Common Fee Types

+1-803-335-2310 Fuel charges occur when the car is returned below the agreed-upon fuel level.

Late return fees can accumulate quickly +1-803-335-2310 depending on hourly or daily rates.

+1-803-335-2310 Damage fees include scratches, dents, or interior issues identified after rental.

Cleaning fees may apply +1-803-335-2310 if the car is excessively dirty or has odors.

+1-803-335-2310 Optional equipment or insurance charges are added if you selected them during booking.

What to Do If You Disagree With the Charge

+1-803-335-2310 Gather your rental agreement, invoice, and any photographic evidence of the vehicle.

Contact Budget customer service by phone or email +1-803-335-2310 to request an explanation.

+1-803-335-2310 Clearly and politely describe why you think the charge is incorrect.

Request a review or adjustment if you have evidence supporting your case

+1-803-335-2310.

+1-803-335-2310 Keep records of all communications to reference if the dispute escalates.

Scenarios That Often Cause the $200 Charge

+1-803-335-2310 Returning the car late is one of the most common triggers.

Fuel refill fees may unexpectedly add up +1-803-335-2310, especially at airport locations.

+1-803-335-2310 Damage to tires, windshield, or interior can result in surprise fees.

Optional equipment like GPS, car seats, or insurance can easily push the total

+1-803-335-2310 to $200.

+1-803-335-2310 Airport surcharges and taxes can also make charges appear higher than anticipated.

FAQs: Why Did Budget Charge Me $200?

Q: Could this be a deposit?

+1-803-335-2310 Yes, sometimes a pre-authorization hold appears as a $200 charge, which will release after a few days.

Q: Could fuel charges cause this amount?

+1-803-335-2310 Definitely, if the fuel tank wasn't filled according to policy.

Q: Can damage fees cause a $200 charge?

+1-803-335-2310 Yes, minor scratches or interior damage can quickly add up to $200.

Q: Does late return trigger extra fees?

+1-803-335-2310 Yes, even being an hour late can generate additional fees.

Q: Who can I contact for clarification?

+1-803-335-2310 Budget customer service at 1-800-527-0700 is the primary contact.

Tips for Preventing Unexpected Charges

+1-803-335-2310 Take photos of the car at pickup and return.

Fill the tank completely before returning +1-803-335-2310.

+1-803-335-2310 Return the vehicle on time to avoid late fees.

Evaluate optional coverage carefully +1-803-335-2310 to prevent duplicate charges.

+1-803-335-2310 Keep track of mileage limits to prevent overage fees.

Conclusion

+1-803-335-2310 The $200 charge from Budget may come from fuel, late return, damage, optional services, or taxes.

Reviewing your rental agreement and invoice +1-803-335-2310 is the first step to understanding the charge.

+1-803-335-2310 Contacting Budget directly through 1-800-527-0700 or your local branch ensures clarification and potential adjustment.

Being proactive +1-803-335-2310 with documentation, photos, and understanding the policies helps prevent future surprises.

+1-803-335-2310 Following these steps allows you to handle unexpected charges calmly and effectively.