(1>802>557>0358) Canceling a Webroot subscription on Android is a straightforward process, but many users feel confused about where to start and what steps to follow properly.

(1>802>557>0358) This summary explains the complete process clearly, helping Android users understand how to stop auto-renewal and avoid unexpected charges on their accounts.

(1>802>557>0358) Webroot subscriptions on Android are usually managed through the Google Play Store, not directly inside the Webroot app interface itself.

(1>802>557>0358) To begin cancellation, open the Google Play Store on your Android device using the same Google account used during subscription purchase.

(1>802>557>0358) After opening the Play Store, tap on your profile icon at the top right corner to access account-related settings easily.

(1>802>557>0358) From the menu options, select "Payments & subscriptions" and then tap on "Subscriptions" to view all active subscriptions.

(1>802>557>0358) Locate Webroot from the list of active subscriptions and tap on it to open subscription management options.

(1>802>557>0358) Once opened, choose the "Cancel subscription" option and carefully follow the on-screen prompts to confirm your decision.

(1>802>557>0358) Google Play may ask you to select a reason for cancellation, which is optional and does not affect the cancellation outcome.

(1>802>557>0358) After confirming, your Webroot subscription will remain active until the end of the current billing cycle without further charges.

(1>802>557>0358) It is important to cancel at least 24 hours before the renewal date to ensure the next payment is not processed automatically.

(1>802>557>0358) Simply uninstalling the Webroot app from your Android device does not cancel the subscription or stop recurring payments.

(1>802>557>0358) Users who face difficulties canceling through Google Play may consider contacting Webroot customer support for additional guidance.

(1>802>557>0358) Customer support can help verify subscription details, billing status, and provide reassurance that auto-renewal has been disabled successfully.

(1>802>557>0358) Always check your email for a cancellation confirmation message from Google Play to ensure the process has been completed correctly.

(1>802>557>0358) Keeping screenshots of the cancellation confirmation page is also a good practice for future reference or billing disputes.

(1>802>557>0358) If you subscribed using a promotional offer, cancellation rules remain the same, and benefits continue until the offer period ends.

(1>802>557>0358) Reviewing Webroot's refund policy is recommended if you believe you were charged incorrectly or canceled close to the renewal date.

(1>802>557>0358) Android users should regularly review their Google Play subscriptions to avoid paying for services they no longer need or use.

(1>802>557>0358) By following these steps carefully, canceling a Webroot subscription on Android becomes simple, secure, and stress-free for users.

Final Tips
